

Product News

ISSUE: October 27 2009

Lee Collings shows off the new Chub Vizor Bivvy. It has a rear ventilation system that doesn't leak.

Chub

LONG-STAY anglers will appreciate the more protective peak on Chub's new Vizor Bivvy.

Packed with features it includes an adaptable ventilation system that doesn't leak, you simply unzip the rear panel to adjust the level of airflow you require. Thanks to its contoured shape and fully elasticated zip protection baffle it's 100 per cent waterproof.

Chub have gone even further by adding the same unique Back Draft Ventilation System to the Vizor Extreme Canopy too.

The bivvy and canopy come with an impressive 10,000 mm Hydrostatic Head as well as a bundle of other impressive features. Look out for this tidy system set to be in the shops before Christmas priced around £299 for the one-man.
www.chubfishing.com

